

LLC Molodets-DV

LLC «Molodets-DV» - a startup, resident of the «Russky» Technopark, established in December 2015 as a developer and manufacturer of functional food products based on natural ingredients to address health problems as an alternative to drug therapy. The global market for functional products is intensively developing, growing by 15-20% annually. In Japan, the growth of this market is estimated at $8-9 billion per year, and its production has become a strategic direction of the country's development. The potential of the global functional food market is 5% of the total volume. The company's team includes the founder, young scientists, an international lawyer, a medical consultant, and a Chinese language linguist-translator.

Currently, LLC «Molodets-DV» promotes its own brand «Sea Hematogen». «Sea Hematogen» is a syrup based on sea urchin and raw honey, containing many antioxidants – quinoid pigments – echinochrome and spinochromes A, B, C, D, E. These substances have a range of beneficial properties, including antioxidant, cardioprotective, immunomodulatory, and anti-inflammatory activity. The unique properties of honey are also known. These active substances are unstable to high temperature and light, problematic in storage. We have solved this problem in our product. The syrup «Sea Hematogen» is intended for consumption without additional processing as a sweetener for drinks and other products, sold in retail, with and without preservatives.

LLC «Molodets-DV» is looking for an investor to scale the business, as we wouldn't be on the market if we didn't know it was worth doing.

LLC «Molodets-DV» invites you to take advantage of economic freedoms and benefits from locating production in the «Free Port of Vladivostok» porto-franco zone. With production located on-site, the project has the potential to increase production.

Industry: production of products based on unique natural health sources – sea urchin and natural honey.
